

IT Alley
4742 42nd Ave SW #272
Seattle, WA 98116-4553
www.italleypllc.com
sales@italleypllc.com

Make Adobe Reader Remember Where You Left Off

Rick Broida

Dec 16, 2008 11:59 am

If you work with a lot of PDFs, especially e-books or other lengthy documents, you probably find it annoying that the files always open at page 1, not the last page you were viewing.

Thankfully, there's a simple way to make Adobe Reader 8 remember your page (as well as your selected zoom and pan settings):

- Click Edit, Preferences.
- Choose Documents.
- Check the box marked, Restore last view settings when reopening documents.

